Jack Knox reserves the right to switch dogs working calves to sheep if he feels it is in the best interest of the dog.

Jack Knox is a two time National Sheepdog Champion, 2012 Reserve National Champion, and a Hall of Fame ABCA breeder. Originally from Scotland, Jack currently lives in Missouri with his wife and daughter where they operate an extensive stock dog and sheep farm.

Jack's training philosophy allows dogs to "think" by "Making the right easy, and the wrong difficult." His method allows dogs to progress quickly. Handlers will benefit not only from participation with their own dog, but from watching and listening to how Jack applies his method to a variety of dogs at a variety of levels on a variety of stock.

This clinic is limited to 14 working dogs and each dog will work twice each day. Available openings are filled upon receipt of a completed registration form along with full payment on a first received basis. Checks will be cashed on January 20, 2025

The cost of this 2-day clinic is $285 for WWSDA members, $320 for non-members. There is unlimited spectator & auditor space at $40 per person for one day, $60 for two days, and does not require advance registration.

Registrants may request a second working slot by submitting a separate registration form and check. Those requests will be put on a waiting list until the check cashing date and allowed to fill any available slots at that time on a first received basis.

- All dogs present must have current rabies vaccination. Be prepared to provide proof if requested.
- You must clean up after your dog.
- All dogs must be on leash or crated when not working. No tug playing or toy throwing in the arena.
- Medical costs incurred due to livestock injury by a dog will be paid for by the owner of the dog causing injury.
- No recording devices (image or sound) allowed except by permission from Jack.
- The content of the clinic is determined by the instructor and shall not be disputed during the clinic. Disputes regarding the clinic must be given to a board member in writing.
